

Samantha and her family moved from Scotland and Dronfield School came highly recommended by lots of different people

Samantha has Henry in Year 5 and Arthur in Year 3.

Moving to a new school

"We moved from a small village in Scotland two years ago. We picked Dronfield as it was recommended to us by at least three other people. We heard great things from various different places so we felt word had got around that it's such a good school. When we looked around we just felt it was the best for our children's needs," said Samantha.

Reassured by the level of support

"We were looking for a school that could support the neurodivergent needs of our children. We'd felt up until the move that the children were missing out on learning, when we looked around Dronfield we noticed so much one-to-one support in place and that was reassuring," said Samantha.

Encouragement and confidence building

"When we were visiting I remember one little boy was really struggling in his lesson and he was lovely. He came and talked to me and said that he was having some time out from his lesson and he seemed happy and confident after a while to return to his lesson. It just made me feel that even when the children get frustrated or are struggling, Dronfield is an environment where they will be supported rather than made to feel bad. Seeing that little boy adapt really helped in my decision making," said Samantha.

Children say

Henry says: "I like science."

Arthur says: "I like maths."

Working together to help pupils believe, achieve and reach their potential.
