

Mikel-Joshua is enjoying learning in the diverse atmosphere of St John XXIII Catholic Primary School

Valerie lives in Hammersmith with her son, Mikel-Joshua, aged six.

Embracing diversity

Valerie likes the Catholic ethos of St John XXIII and the way the staff make all children feel comfortable and included. "Although it is a Catholic school, the school is very diverse and the staff are teaching the children to live happily side by side with people of different faiths and ethnicities," Valerie says.

Outstanding choice

"Two of my younger siblings went to St John XXIII, so I knew it was a very good school. I wanted Mikel-Joshua to go to a faith school and it is close to where we live, but I also looked at the latest Ofsted report and found that the school was rated as 'outstanding'.

Children say

Mikel-Joshua says: "I like doing different activities at school, such as planting fruit and vegetables. My school is excellent super."
