

Claire and Tony Dodman live in St. Albans with their children Rhys 25, Scott, 22, Kyle, 19, and Jeorgia, 16. Their son Scott is hearing impaired and attended Knightsfield. He loved the school so much, he has returned as a teaching assistant.

Claire and Scott believe Knightsfield School's positive approach to education and additional needs is life changing

University of Hertfordshire

Scott is now studying at the University of Hertfordshire for a degree in Sport Therapy and has returned to Knightsfield School as a teaching assistant on placement. He is working on a one to one basis with a pupil who has mobility needs. Scott says: "The school really helped me and it's been enjoyable to be back in the family and to be a role model to the children."

"Life changing"

"The extra support that Knightsfield School gives makes you believe in yourself; it's life changing!"

Parent says:

"To my mind, Knightsfield School is the best choice around for children with a hearing impairment. I'm glad we didn't go anywhere else."
Claire and Gavin Kelso live in Stevenage with their two daughters Iona, 13 in Year 8 and Hazel, nine.

Professional says:

"Knightsfield School provides a safe, caring and welcoming environment for its pupils. The purpose built classrooms afford superb listening conditions and when coupled with the dedicated, encouraging and supportive team of professionals there, every pupil is given the opportunity to thrive."
Donald A Allan, Senior Advisory Teacher - H/Educational Audiologist.

Head says:

"Hat's off to Knightsfield School!... We were so impressed with the standards of writing by the Knightsfield pupils along with their manners and maturity. What great role models for our children. Please come back again!"
Mary Westley, Head, Welwyn St Mary's C of E Primary School.
